SISA TIME Vol-2

MESSAGE FROM CHAIRMAN

I must confess that the second quarter of 2016 – 2017 started off on a quiet note, much to my disappointment. However our 'darling' MD hit the winning stroke of a master blasters by bagging the biggest ever contract in recent SISA history. This was truly an extraordinary feat, carved out single handedly with turbo power driven professional competence. Well done Sameer for raising the SISA flagstaff higher! This quarter also witnessed the advent of the festive season. It was for me to ensure that all my beloved employees were able to enjoy their festivities to the fullest with their families. Like every year it was time for me to loosen my purse strings and let happiness flow within the SISA family. It was also a disturbing time for me, by virtue of my being an Army Officer, as the news of the unprovoked brutality of the Pakistan Army on our jawans spread throughout the nation. I was truly overwhelmed by the spontaneous outrage among my dear Sisatarians to condemn this dastardly action by the Pakistani government.

This quarter also witnessed certain critical maneuvers' executed meticulously by my trusted solders in some of our Regions, once again proving that my company is positioned to deal with any situation akin to our trade. I must mention here that our VP, Virendra Pandey has proved his mettle time and again, be it marketing or Operations. Well done Virendra, keep it up!!!

MESSAGE FROM CHAIRMAN

Notwithstanding the fact that we have made new forays into our commercial entity, we remain focused into our core business activity – GUARDING. I will never tire myself into repeating that I will only have trained, fit, groomed and trusted security guards in my company. There will never be any departure from this stand and you must not rest till this is achieved. I am sure you will not disappointment me.

My family joins me in wishing you all the very best for the season of festivals in October. Enjoy yourselves to your hearts content but always save a little space for our brave Jawans who ensure our happiness and safety every year, every day, every moment of our lives.

Jai Bharat!!! Jai Jawan!!!

SISA TIME Vol-2

FROM THE EDITORS DESK

SISA Times evolved with the perception that readership and participation among our fraternity would contribute to its success. Unfortunately that has not happened, since hardly any contributions were received over the couple of years since its inception. I once again request all of you to send in your contributions for our next edition to Tanya at info@sisasecurity.com with a copy marked to me at chandan.banerjee@sisasecurity.com. The contributions may be in the form of short articles along with pictures about places of interest near you, your experience at work or an achievement you or your family member may have achieved. SISA Times is your e-magazine, be a part of it!!!

Please remember that you are a member of the SISA family, not a co-passenger in a train to other Sisatarians. Every act of yours is bound to have repercussions within our fold, so act responsibly. It is the sacred duty of each one of us, to stretch our capacities to the fullest, so that the pillars of our magnificent edifice are strong enough to carry the increasing weight of business we keep building. You have all the potential and capacity to deliver, you only need a dedicated will to do it.

Come October and with it the season of festivals and lights. I am sure you are all set to spoil yourselves and your families with new clothes, family dinners and gifts. Do enjoy to the fullest, drink life to the lees but always remember to say a little prayer for our brave soldiers who sacrifice their lives to ensure our happiness.

Cheers!!! Chak de SISA!!!

The Alaskan Trail

As our plane was about to enter US airspace on its way towards Chicago's O'Hare International Airport, at 34000 ft. above Greenland, I looked down through the window to see the most amazing sight I had seen in all my life - an ocean of ice and glaciers. That was a preview of what I could expect to see in Alaska. I had been to the US many times before but never Alaska.

Travelling to Fairbanks in Alaska from Chicago meant long flying hours. Four hours to Seattle and another three hours from Seattle to Fairbanks. We had checked the temperatures in Fairbanks and Anchorage and realized it was going to be quite cold, that meant extra baggage. The three sights that dominate Alaska tours are the Aurora Borealis or Northern Lights, the great Grizzly Bear and the Glaciers. We kept our fingers crossed for the first two since the third was there to be.

When we arrived at the lodge in Fairbanks around 1 a.m. it was freezing cold and the night sky was clear. We looked up to see the stars but instead were greeted to the most awesome sight of orange, green, yellow, blue lights dancing in the night sky above. It was indeed the Aurora Borealis. We looked on mesmerized for some time until suddenly realizing we were not clicking. Out came the cameras, cell phones, handy cams to capture the most spectacular celestial circus in the sky.

The next three days went off like a dream, travelling endless miles in the Denali National Park. We did see quite a few Grizzly Bear, Moose, Caribou, Dall Sheep, wolves and birds. The tours conducted by the Denali National Park and Preserve turned out quite exciting, traversing endless miles in absolute uninhabited wilderness.

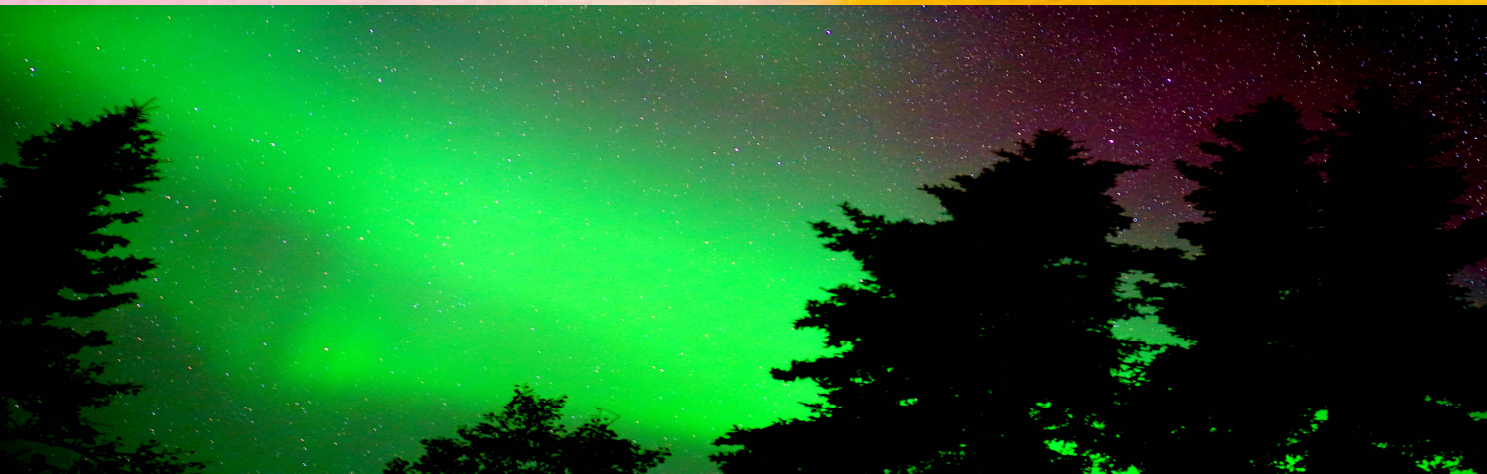

The short Alaska Airlines flight from Fairbanks to Anchorage ushered us into the land of glaciers on the Prince William Sound which is on the east side of the Kenai Peninsula. The land mass along the glacial trail is part of the Chugach National Forest, the second largest forest in US.

There are two ways to see the great Kinik and Colony glaciers. It is either on a cruise or by hiring a sea plane. We did both. The trip on the Glacier Cruise owned by Philip Cruises brought us to touching distances of the massive mountains of ice. A cabin steward even fished out some glacial ice to fill my glass of sea-salt tequila. Trust me, the whole experience was mind blowing.

Next day we drove down to Lake Hood Sea Plane Base and hired a five seater sea plane to fly us far and deep into the glacial fields. As the landscape changed, we looked down in awe at the limitless stretch of glacier beneath us. The shapes, colors and size of the glaciers made us speechless. The only sound we heard now was the spluttering of the sea plane engine. The young German pilot made a perfect landing on a small glacial lake and positioned the plane in the center of the mightiest glaciers I had ever seen. I was lucky to be seated next to the pilot, so was able to step out of the plane for a quick photo shoot for keeps sake.

As I look at the pictures of our tour in the comfort of my arm chair in Chicago, my mind travels back to the land of the Grizzly Bear, Caribou and glaciers. Mother nature has so much to offer but the clock just keeps ticking away. Rest well my friends.
